

ABOUT COOKIES ON OUR WEBSITE

Axess Logistics* (in this document called "we") use cookies on our website. By "cookies" we mean all the cookies, pixels and similar tracking techniques that give us information about your unit and store information on your unit.

We place cookies on your unit when you visit our website. You can read more about it <https://www.axesslogistics.se/sv/content/policy-bestammelser>.

What are cookies

A cookie is a small textfile which the website requests to be saved on your computer. There are two types of cookies, temporary and permanent. Temporary cookies (e.g session cookies) are stored randomly in your computers memory and being removed when you close the browser. Permanent cookies are saved for a longer time according to information below. We use only "http cookies" and not the more technical advanced cookies.

If you want more information about cookies and the legislation on regulations for cookies, please go to the website of the Swedish authorities named "Post- och telestyrelsen": <http://www.pts.se/>.

Cookies on our website – purpose and use

Here we describe what kind of cookies we use, for what purpose they are used, what information are being collected and if they are stored permanently or temporary. If you want to influence on how we use cookies you can controll it on your browser – please read "Avoid cookies" below.

Analyzing and developing the website and its functionality

We use temporary and permanent cookies from Google in order to analyze how our website are being used and for improvement of the website. By cookies we will receive information about e.g your IP-address, how manye visitors the different pages have, how long the visitors stay on the website, what parts of the website are being used, what unit are being used, what pages the visitors come from and from which countries you and other visitors surf from.

The cookies we use for these purposes are not strictly necessary for the website to work and that is why your consent for the use of cookies are necessary, when visiting the website.

Googles temporary cookies are called "pagead/1p-conversion/#", "pagead/1p-user-list/#" and "collect". These cookies are erased when you close your browser. Googles permanent cookies are called "analytics, _gid," "analytics, _ga", "_dc_gtm_UA-#", "_gat", "test_cookie" and "gps". Theses cookies are stored less than a day after your visit. Google also have a permantent cookie called "SC_ANALYTICS_GLOBAL_COOKIE" and they are stored for six months after yur visit.

Google will also use information collected for their own purposes. Information on how Google use cookies och and how you can avoid them you can read about on Googles own page her:

<https://developers.google.com/analytics/devguides/collection/analyticsjs/cookie-usage>.

How we handle your personal data such as IP adress is described here:

<https://www.axesslogistics.se/sv/content/policy-bestammelser>.

Functionality of the website and remembering your choices

We use temporary cookies and session cookies for the functionality of the website and in order to remember your choices. The cookies described below will be put on your browser when you use our website. Those cookies are necessary to provide a service you expressly have asked for, meaning the cookies are needed for the websites functionality and remembering your choices. By these reasons your consent is not needed for having cookies on your browser.

In order to keep track on your session a random cookie is placed on your browser in order to create a random ID for your session. This cookie is called ASP.NET_SessionId being a temporary cookie which erase when you close your browser.

In order to know if you have accepted the cookies demanding your consent, we use a permanent cookie called PT.AllowCookies on your unit for six months. This cookie is necessary for the functionality of the website and does not require your consent for the use of the cookie.

Avoid cookies

You can block certain types of cookies by setting your browser to automatically refuse the storage of cookies or being informed each time a website demand to store a cookie. Through the browser you can also study what cookies have been stored and delete these. Please look at your browsers assistant page for further information.

Without the so called necessary cookies mentioned above you are not able to use all parts of our website. Other cookies you may block out but if you choose not to allow cookies it may have the consequence that the website do not function at it's best. Another consequence if you avoid cookies is that we get less information to follow up the use of the website and less knowledge for improving it.

If you block non-necessary cookies you will receive question about consent for these when you visit the website next time.
